

The Fulton County News.

VOLUME 1.

McCONNELLSBURG, PA., OCTOBER 5, 1899.

NUMBER 3.

A POINTER.

There are a few selfish creatures in the midst who do not feel very able toward THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, nor its editor, and for the past sixteen years have lost no opportunity about his financial ruin, in the sake of filling their own and to carry out their selfish schemes. They may disturb your confidence in the financial condition of THE Fulton County News, and the stability of our paper. Now, do not be alarmed. The new paper is here to stay, and you will get every copy you need for, or may hereafter need. The people are with the paper, and there is not the particle of danger in its being financially embarrassed.

Kind Words.

Bright and Neat.
The new paper, THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, B. W. Peck editor, made it to the public last week. It is bright and neat.—Fulton Democrat.

Eight Page Paper.
FULTON COUNTY NEWS is a paper started in McConnellsburg, Pa., by B. W. Peck, formerly of the Democrat. It is a neat eight page paper, variety of interesting matter. It will certainly not suffer from live newspapers.—Shipwreck News.

Typographically Perfect.
The first number of THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, published at McConnellsburg, Pa., by B. W. Peck, has to our exchange desk. The paper is not only interesting, but typographically perfect. The News has the wishes of the Star for success. —Star.

Bran Splinter New.
FULTON COUNTY NEWS, bran new, came to this office on Friday, with the name of Mr. B. W. Peck, at its mast-head. The paper is printed at McConnellsburg, and is an eight page, with seven columns to the page. Four pages are in the city and four at home. The paper contains a large amount of interesting matter.—Everett Press.

Independent.
FULTON COUNTY NEWS is the new paper that was born in place last Thursday. As it is the world just as the sun and the equator, making day and night, it will likely be independent of politics; the bright part being the bright and the dark side Democrat. Prof. B. W. Peck, late editor of the Fulton Democrat is in editorial office.—Fulton Republican.

A Model.
FULTON COUNTY NEWS, is the new paper started at McConnellsburg last week by Mr. B. W. Peck, late editor of the Democrat. It is a model of the newspaper, and we have given it a careful examination. Mr. B. W. Peck, formerly editor of the Fulton Democrat, is the editor of the new paper. It is in his hands it cannot fail to be a bright, up-to-date and newsy paper. The typographical appearance of the first number is very attractive and the assortment of matter is large and interesting. We wish the new journal to the best and wish it success.—Shippensville Chronicle.

Up-to-Date.
The new paper came to our exchange desk last week. THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, published at McConnellsburg, Pa., by B. W. Peck, has to our exchange desk. The paper is not only interesting, but typographically perfect. The News has the wishes of the Star for success. —Star.

Excellent Newspaper.
The first copy of Fulton county's new paper arrived at this office on last day. The sheet presents a handsome appearance, and is filled with matter which bears the mark of having been through experienced hands. The number is a sure indicator of the quality of the paper. It is an excellent paper in all respects. We wish Mr. B. W. Peck, success in his new venture and THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, a prosperous voyage on the sea. Mr. J. J. Peck, an experienced newspaper printer and practical printer, is local editor.—Fulton Republican.

The Topmost Wave.

THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS has made its bow to the public. Its home is at McConnellsburg, and its proprietor is B. W. Peck, formerly editor of the Fulton Democrat. With such a skillful helmsman, the new paper is destined to ride on the topmost wave of popularity and prosperity. We are glad to report Professor Peck's return to the ranks and wish him abundant success.—Bedford Gazette.

In the Right Place.

A copy of the first issue of THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, a new, seven column, eight page paper, established in McConnellsburg, by B. W. Peck, editor of the Fulton Democrat, reached our desk Friday of last week. THE NEWS is the exact size, and in general make-up, greatly resembles your favorite paper, The Journal, and there is no manner of doubt that it will receive unlimited patronage. Editor Peck is an able, efficient, obliging gentleman, and in brief words, the right man in the right place.—Mercedersburg Journal.

A Dollar a Year.

Last week came to our desk Volume 1, Number 1, of THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS, published at McConnellsburg, Fulton county, Pa., with the name of B. W. Peck at its helm as editor and publisher. The news is an eight-page seven-column paper, and although the initial number was gotten out under the difficulties incident to "the new paper," it is filled with excellent reading matter of the various kinds necessary to satisfy the wants of the average nineteenth-century reader. It is also neat, typographically. The establishing of THE NEWS gave to Fulton county what it never had in its history or would not have had in its future for years to come, namely, a "dollar-a-year" newspaper. Ever since we can remember, the people of "Little Fulton" have been obliged to pay $2.50, $2.00 or $1.50 a year for a seven-column folio, but the innovation made by THE NEWS brings a new, well-edited country weekly, in seven-column quarto form, to the inhabitants of the "only county in the State without a railroad" for one dollar a year paid in advance. THE NEWS deserves to be well patronized, and we hope it will be. Professor Peck, the editor, publisher and proprietor, is a printer, teacher, scholar, and, lastly, a writer of more than ordinary ability. We wish the new enterprise abundant success, and it should have it; as we have said because both paper and editor are worthy—altogether deserving—of a lucrative patronage. So, may THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS live long and prosper.—Tyrone Times.

HORTON—MUMMA.

Wm. H. Horton and Miss E. Gertrude Mumma were joined in holy wedlock at the M. E. Parsonage at Three Springs, September 28th, at noon, by Rev. W. J. Sheaffer. The bride and groom boarded the cars for Chicago, on same day, where they will have their new home. Mr. Horton, formerly of Hustontown, but whose home has been in the "White City" for some time, is a successful draughtsman, being employed in a very profitable position, with immediate openings for advancement. He is a very progressive young man of noble character, and is succeeding rapidly in life. Miss E. Gertrude Mumma, the bride, of near Laidig, is a most attractive and scholarly young lady, who has taught several successful terms of school in her county, and has been quite an active worker in various forms of church life. We desire for them the richest blessings, hoping that they may win the noblest, purest life. May they have many happy returns of the day.

ABSENT 49 YEARS.

Mr. H. H. Tice, of Gibsonburg, Ohio, who is spending a few weeks among friends in the county, was a pleasant caller at the News office last Saturday. Mr. Tice is a native of Todd township, but has been away from this county forty-nine years. He is a brother of Mrs. Rebecca Comer, of this place; and he has two sisters living in the West—Hannah, in Oklahoma, and Mulvina, in Illinois. He is also a brother of the late John Tice, the famous weather prophet of St. Louis.

On the seventh day of May, 1851, he was mustered into the 2d Missouri Artillery, and three days later he participated in the capture of Camp Jackson with 900 Confederate prisoners. Mr. Tice remained in the service two years and nine months. He is visiting his late brother Daniel's children, in Maryland, this week, and expects to reach his home in Ohio, about the last of this month.

Mr. B. Frank Wible, of Knobsville, shot and killed along Licking creek last week a strange waterfowl. It had gray feathers and bright green legs. Its bill was about four inches long, and quite sharp. By a measurement, from the feet to the point of the bill, it was found that it was, when standing erect with neck and head extended upward, about three feet tall. What was it?

FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

Interesting Letter From Charles Henry Wissner Descriptive of His Ocean Voyage, Honolulu, Manila, the Philippines, &c.

From a letter just received from Mr. Wissner by Hon. W. Scott Alexander, of this place, we are permitted to publish the following extracts which will be of interest to many of our readers:

S. S. TARTAR, August 14, 1899.

I wish I could reproduce to you with this pencil the exceeding loveliness of this ocean voyage. Since leaving Frisco—three weeks ago tomorrow—there has been nothing to mar the beauty of what the sailors claim to be an unparalleled trip at this season of the year. The stay at Honolulu, the banana groves, the tall coconut palms, a dip in the surf at Waikiki, were like dreams after nights and days of sailing under cloudless skies and over smooth waters. One who survives such a voyage as this will have many yarns to spin to open-mouthed listeners around the fireside or pleasing recollections with which to beguile many hours in later life. Get out your map of the Pacific Ocean and follow the wake of our ship across the waters. From Frisco we sailed southwest to the islands of Oahu and Honolulu. After leaving Honolulu we sailed due west along the 21st parallel of latitude, and will continue to do so until we are due north of the island of Luzon, when we will turn south to Manila. Our transport is a Canadian Pacific Steamer, called "Tartar." We have on board about 1200 enlisted men, besides the officers of the 1st and 3rd Battalions of the 10th Regiment, and fighting Joe Wheeler of Alabama. Every possible provision has been made for our comfort. We have elegant shower baths, three good meals a day, a well furnished library, and just about enough work to help us from growing too lazy for any duties on shore. The food is good, and well prepared. You know I have been in continuous service now 14 months, and I can truthfully say that my most pleasing experience has been my experience on board of this transport. The first bugle call is sounded at 6.40 a. m., at 6, we are on deck, washed and dressed and ready to answer roll call; at 7, mess call sounds; at 9, guard mount for those who go on guard; at 9.40 we go through calisthenics for 15 minutes, just enough to supply us up a little bit—then the day's duties are over, save eating the two meals—until 6 p. m., when we have Retreat, with the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner" to the accompaniment of the low splash of the waves with the sun setting like a ball of fire in the western waters. There has been very little sickness on board. One fellow went insane from too much brooding over home and loved ones. The personnel of the regular army at present is superior to even that of the volunteer in the Spanish-American war. Men have learned that they can serve their country as well as regulars, as volunteers, and that they will have better treatment and be better looked after than with a lot of politicians wearing soldier straps. Although we are near the equator it is still very comfortable. We have had a steady breeze from the northeast ever since leaving Honolulu and the nights have been cold enough to warrant a blanket. My health has been perfect and I enter the campaign feeling fully equal to it.

We arrived in Manila day before yesterday. We saw plainly Corrigidor island where Dewey was first fired upon, and Cavite where the great naval battle was fought. There is only one vessel in the bay at present—the Oregon—which lies quite close to us with her guns trained on the city and her decks cleared. She alone is sufficient to prevent the rebels from entering and holding the city. Manila lies before me as I write (we have not been on shore yet) Owing to the incessant rain I can see but little. The city wall cannot be seen here. I can see, however, the Archbishop's Palace and some of the government buildings. It rains, rains, rains, all the time, and will rain at this rate, so I am told, for two months yet. There is a steady south east wind, and as long as that lasts, the rainy season will continue.

The natives are very much like the Hawaiians in feature, but very much smaller. They speak Spanish, and to my surprise, though I have worked hard in my Spanish, I was able to understand them and to be understood by them. They have such sleepy looking faces that it seems hardly possible that they could be capable of the treachery and cruelty of which they stand accused. The war is on every man's tongue. Our troops are practically besieged in and around Manila. There will be a hot time before every thing quiets down. Last night two sentries were killed by assassins while walking their posts in Manila. Saturday night a desperate attempt was made to take the waterworks and was only repulsed after a loss of 1 officer, 9 privates killed, and 22 wounded on our side. Every morning at break of day the Filipinos seek to rush our posts but up to this date have always been driven back. Seven negro soldiers were drowned yesterday while crossing the lower bay in canoes or native boats. This news was brought on board this morning by "Gypsy" Young formerly of Co. E 19th but now of 21st Gen. Wheeler left for town yesterday. We heard some artillery firing this morning in the neighborhood of Cavite. Our destination will be Calocoon, 7 miles from Manila, where we will join Lanton's—Fighting Brigade. This means that we will be in the thick of it with plenty of mauling.

Two deaths took place since we arrived in the harbor. Both bodies have been embalmed and will be taken ashore today. We leave the boat as soon as necessary arrangements can be made. We take the place of the 20th Kansas. I don't know why, but I haven't been able to get up any scare yet. I will admit that I dread the idea of some lingering disease, but have no fright yet in regard to going into battle! I shall write you again when we reach our camp and shall seek to give you some idea of what warfare actually is. I forgot to mention the fact that 15 sharpshooters of the 21st infantry got themselves into such a tight place last week that it took 6 companies to rescue them. I have no idea when this letter will reach you.

Sunday, Aug. 20.—We have just passed the islands of Camiguin and Fuga—the northern coast of Luzon is in plain view to the south of us. We will have been four weeks out tomorrow. It seems a long time to be separated from civilization, and it is pleasant to see land once more. There has been nothing thus far to mar the beauty of the trip. There has not been a day's rough sailing, nor what the sailors would call a capful of wind. Today is a perfect day, and the boys are lolling around the deck, and singing. They are happy at the thought of landing. God alone knows what they will be called upon to face. We have been sleeping on deck for the last week—a life preserver for our pillow and the soft side of the deck for our bed. The heat is intolerable. I shall write you my impressions of Manila before I post this.

We arrived in Manila day before yesterday. We saw plainly Corrigidor island where Dewey was first fired upon, and Cavite where the great naval battle was fought. There is only one vessel in the bay at present—the Oregon—which lies quite close to us with her guns trained on the city and her decks cleared. She alone is sufficient to prevent the rebels from entering and holding the city. Manila lies before me as I write (we have not been on shore yet) Owing to the incessant rain I can see but little. The city wall cannot be seen here. I can see, however, the Archbishop's Palace and some of the government buildings. It rains, rains, rains, all the time, and will rain at this rate, so I am told, for two months yet. There is a steady south east wind, and as long as that lasts, the rainy season will continue.

The natives are very much like the Hawaiians in feature, but very much smaller. They speak Spanish, and to my surprise, though I have worked hard in my Spanish, I was able to understand them and to be understood by them. They have such sleepy looking faces that it seems hardly possible that they could be capable of the treachery and cruelty of which they stand accused.

The war is on every man's tongue. Our troops are practically besieged in and around Manila. There will be a hot time before every thing quiets down. Last night two sentries were killed by assassins while walking their posts in Manila. Saturday night a desperate attempt was made to take the waterworks and was only repulsed after a loss of 1 officer, 9 privates killed, and 22 wounded on our side. Every morning at break of day the Filipinos seek to rush our posts but up to this date have always been driven back. Seven negro soldiers were drowned yesterday while crossing the lower bay in canoes or native boats. This news was brought on board this morning by "Gypsy" Young formerly of Co. E 19th but now of 21st Gen. Wheeler left for town yesterday. We heard some artillery firing this morning in the neighborhood of Cavite. Our destination will be Calocoon, 7 miles from Manila, where we will join Lanton's—Fighting Brigade. This means that we will be in the thick of it with plenty of mauling.

Two deaths took place since we arrived in the harbor. Both bodies have been embalmed and will be taken ashore today. We leave the boat as soon as necessary arrangements can be made. We take the place of the 20th Kansas. I don't know why, but I haven't been able to get up any scare yet. I will admit that I dread the idea of some lingering disease, but have no fright yet in regard to going into battle! I shall write you again when we reach our camp and shall seek to give you some idea of what warfare actually is. I forgot to mention the fact that 15 sharpshooters of the 21st infantry got themselves into such a tight place last week that it took 6 companies to rescue them. I have no idea when this letter will reach you.

Mr. Vincent Hart had two acres sown in buckwheat on his farm in Whips Cove from which he had a yield of fifty-nine bushels; and that, in the face of the fact that it was a mountain field and badly shaded.

PERSONALS.

Mr. M. D. MATHIAS, of Hustontown, was a pleasant caller Monday.

Mr. SAMUEL CLEVELAND, of Bedford, was an early Monday caller.

Mr. ADAM LONG, of Todd, was in town Friday.

Mr. WILLIAM GREEN, of Todd, was in town on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE MYERS, of Bethel township, were in town Monday.

Mr. WILLIAM BENDER and son Harry are attending the York Fair this week.

Mr. EMANUEL H. SITES, of near Saluvia, was in McConnellsburg last week.

Mr. W. F. HART, Needmore's substantial merchant, called to see us while in town Monday.

Prof. T. SCOTT HERSHEY, one of Dublin's successful teachers visited our sanctum Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. GARLAND, of Pleasant Ridge, spent last Friday at the county capital.

A. L. ROEDERS, Chambersburg's leading photographer, is spending this week in McConnellsburg.

Mr. H. K. McLOTT, of Licking Creek township, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, spent last Friday in town.

W. H. BAUMGARDNER, Esq., one of Wells township's most enterprising citizens was in town on business Monday.

ROBERT A. McDONALD, Esq., of Chambersburg, has been spending the past week in this place exchanging greetings with his many Fulton county friends.

EX-JUDGE JOHN DANIELS, of Franklin Mills, came up to court this week to meet his many old time friends.

Mr. and Mrs. URIAH W. KLINE and son Martin, of Licking Creek township, were in town Friday.

Prof. ERNEST GRESS, who is teaching this winter at Welsh Run, came over on his wheel last Saturday morning to visit his parents and other friends here.

MISS ANNIE B. FREY left Monday morning for the eastern cities to purchase a full stock of millinery goods for the firm of Miss A. J. Irwin & Co., of this place.

MISS MAURE TROUT has accepted a position in the store of H. C. Smith & Co.

Mr. W. P. LASHLEY, of Lashley, was up mingling with the court crowd this week.

MR. NATHAN DISHONG, of Licking Creek township, dropped in to take a look at THE NEWS office while in town this week.

ERNEST CAUTION, of Mercedersburg, and William Caution, of Lehmastown, were visiting the family of Isaac Watson on Sunday.

MR. CHARLES DRAWBAUGH, of Waynesboro, spent from last Saturday to Monday with his uncle and aunt, Rev. and Mrs. D. P. Drawbaugh of this place.

MR. JOHN E. LOCKE, who recently lost the ends of the second and third fingers of his left hand at the Westinghouse Electrical Company's works in East Pittsburg, was in town this week.

MISS ELLA FINIFF, of Todd township, left Monday for a two weeks' visit to her brother Jacob at Hagers-town. From there she will go to Bedford, W. Va., to visit her sister, Mrs. George Wagner.

WILSON AND ROBBIE McDONALD have removed from Newville to Washington, Pa., where they are now carrying on a nice tailoring business. We wish the boys lots of success.

HON. GEORGE A. SMITH, of Rogersville, Tenn., is in attendance at court this week. Time seems to be dealing gently with him; for his appearance would indicate that he had not grown any older in the last twenty years.

HARRY E. SHAFFER, Esq., of Kane, Pa., has been spending the past week renewing old acquaintances in this place. Mr. Shaffer was editor and proprietor of the Fulton Republican and resided in this place, from 1868 to 1872. He is now engaged in the practice of law in partnership with his son.

DR. JOSEPH F. BARTON, who has been ill all summer at the home of his mother in Minneapolis, is improving, and hopes to return to Shippensburg and his duties at the State Normal about October 7.

DR. E. L. SMITH has leased the offices lately occupied by the late Dr. Wm. F. Trout and has arranged to locate in this place for the practice of medicine. The Doctor is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has had a year's practice in the University and Maternity Hospitals, of Philadelphia, and comes well recommended. He will be here in a few days to remain permanently.

MR. A. F. NEWCOMER, of Harrisburg, general agent for the Milburn Wagon people, was here last Thursday and sold T. J. Comer a carload of Wagons and buggies for next summer customers.

Mr. F. S. GREATHEAD, who holds a responsible and lucrative position with the Standard Oil Co., at Stanton, Va., accompanied by his nephew Master John McCarroll, Dellinger Greathead, spent a day or two this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Greathead of this place.

LEMMY GARLAND, of Needmore, was a pleasant caller Wednesday morning.

Mrs. REBECCA EDWARDS and granddaughter Marion Edwards, of Wells Valley, have been the guests of the Misses Dickson this week.

MISS MINNIE and SADDIE DICKSON and Jessie Slonn, and Mrs. S. Alexander went to Dublin Mills Wednesday to visit the family of Dr. and Mrs. Bernhardt.

Mr. GEO. W. GRAY, of Bethel township, is at court this week as a petit juror.

Mr. W. B. RANCK, of Warfordsburg, dropped in to see us Tuesday morning.

MR. Z. BLAND BARNET, one of our esteemed ex-commissioners, is in town this week.

Mr. WM. F. WINK, of Bethel township came over to attend the Democratic meeting, Monday night.

MR. MOSES DIEHL, one of Whips Cove's representative citizens, was a pleasant caller at THE NEWS office Tuesday.

MISS LIZZIE WATSON, of this place, who on account of her health has not been able to attend school is now very ill.

HARRY OTT, son of Mr. John Ott, of Ayr township, has entered the store of Geo. W. Reinsner & Co. as assistant salesman.

Mrs. D. B. NACE, of Chambersburg, is spending a few days mingling with her many McConnellsburg friends.

REV. H. M. ASH and son Vincent, left Monday morning for Philadelphia. Vincent expects to enter the Medical-Chirurgical college.

DR. H. S. WISHART, of Harrisonville, spent Wednesday in town.

N. B. HANKS, Esq., of Emmaville, spent Tuesday night in town.

MR. AMOS HIXSON, of Brush Creek township, spent a day or two in town this week. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Stoutengale.

A. J. SCHETROMPF, of the firm of George Schetrompf & Sons, of Buck Valley was a juror this week.

J. M. LODGE, Jr., a juror from Brush Creek township, called to see us a few minutes Wednesday.

A. V. B. Souders, enjoyed a rather smart drive to town Wednesday to attend court as a witness on the road plow case.

Dr. Garthwaite will be at Dickson's Drug Store to answer professional calls on the afternoons of Tuesday and Saturday of each week.

Mrs. S. J. McCauslin and daughter Mae, who have been visiting during the past two weeks at the home of A. G. Shoemaker and sisters and that of Mr. and Mrs. George Magsam, returned to Philadelphia last Saturday, accompanied by Mr. D. L. W. Delaplaine.

Bedford's new reservoir, work on which was begun in April 1898, was completed last week. It has a capacity of 28,000 gallons. There will be a constant supply of pure water. This is the fourth reservoir the town has built. The new reservoir cost $16,500. The town has spent $120,000 on its water supply.

The fifth annual encampment of the Juniata Valley Veteran Association will be held at Newport on October 10, 11, 12 and 13. The counties comprising this association are Bedford, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Mifflin, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder and Union. A big encampment is expected.

"Sir," said the trembling young man to the girl's father, "I love your daughter and she loves me, and I have come to ask you for her. I am sober and industrious, but poor. Will you give assent?" "Not a durned cent," growled the old man, and the poor lover was carried away in convulsions.—Peck.

Mr. H. A. Barnett died at Bedford, Monday evening of last week, of typhoid-pneumonia. He was a son of Henry S. Barnett, and was born at Hancock, Maryland, in 1833. At the age of thirteen he entered the store of his uncle, A. B. Taney, as a clerk and afterward clerked for J. M. Hedding. He went to Bedford with J. M. Hedding and clerked in his store till 1886, when he went into business for himself. He was a man of great business ability, thoroughly honest in all his business transactions and successful in his undertakings. In the Spring of this year, he and his brother E. A. Barnett, began the erection of a new store room which is now nearly completed. This store when finished will be one of the largest department stores in Southern Pennsylvania.

W. F. Hart has just received a nice lot of new, fall and winter goods at his store at Needmore, and is selling them at prices just as low as they can honestly be sold.

AFFLICTED FAMILIES.

Last spring Thompson Peck, wife, and four-year-old daughter, moved from the "Miss Kate Thomas" farm near Hancock, where Mr. Peck had been farming two or three years, into Hancock, and Mr. Peck engaged in the livery business.

About eight weeks ago Mrs. Peck was stricken down with typhoid fever. She had the most careful attention of friends and physicians, but continued to grow weaker. The little daughter was sent out to the home of its uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Decker, near Warfordsburg. About a week ago the father went out with the long watch at the bedside of his sick wife was attacked by the disease, and upon the advice of friends was removed to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Park Palmer, in Pigeon Cove, where he has been in a semi-delirious condition since.

On Sunday evening Mrs. Peck died, and the child is reported lying very ill at her uncle's.

The remains of Mrs. Peck were interred in the cemetery at the Tonoloway Baptist church on Tuesday, followed thither by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Mrs. Peck was about thirty-four years of age and a daughter of the late John H. Fisher of Bethel township.

About eight weeks ago Commissioner John Stunkard, of Wells Valley, was obliged to take his bed. A physician was called and Mr. Stunkard was informed that his illness was typhoid fever. Mr. Stunkard became a very sick man, and it required several weeks of very careful nursing to make it possible for him to be up. About a week after he took fever, his daughter Maggie got it, and still later his eight-year-old son John. The afflicted family had the sympathy of kind neighbors, who did everything in their power for their comfort. About ten days ago the faithful wife and mother, who was almost exhausted from care and watchfulness over her loved ones, was obliged to sink to her bed from an attack of the same dread malady. She seemed, however, to be getting along well, and in no immediate danger; so when Monday morning came, and the presence of Mr. Stunkard seemed to be demanded at the commissioners' office in McConnellsburg, on account of court, and the fact that he had been absent from the office for several weeks, his wife thought it best that he should try to get to town. He reached here about noon Monday very much exhausted from the ride, but the severest shock came when about three o'clock a message came over the 'phone informing him that his wife was dead. He, of course, at once started on his long, sad, drive of 22 miles for his home.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon and her remains were followed to their resting place in the cemetery at the Valley M. E. church by a large number of sympathizing friends. Rev. W. J. Scheaffer conducted the services. She was a faithful member of the M. E. church. She was aged about 42 years.

OUR STREET MARKETS.

Sweet potatoes seem to be a plentiful crop this year, and many are being brought to town. They have been bringing fifty cents a bushel. Irish potatoes have been selling for thirty-five cents.

The first shellbarks of the season made their appearance last Friday, and readily brought a dollar a bushel. Owing to the fact that nearly every family in McConnellsburg has a good garden, and cabbage has done pretty well this year, it does not meet with a very ready sale when brought in to market. A nice lot was offered last Friday at two cents a head.

The stores are paying about 14 cents for butter, and 15 cents for eggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah McIlott of Cross Roads are very happy over the fact that they are the parents of a little daughter that made its appearance in their home a few days ago.

Jeff Wible of Licking Creek township, has had a good deal of sport this fall in hunting groundhogs. It is said he has already killed fifty, and knows where there are some more.

The Editor's family enjoyed at Tuesday dinner a mess of delicious roasting ears, through the generosity of Mrs. D. V. Sipes. Mrs. Sipes sees to it that when the early potatoes are taken up, the ground is planted in sweet corn. Plenty of "roasting ears" are thus provided for late fall use.

Cards are out announcing the marriage, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Kendall, of Miss Laura Logan Kendall to Mr. William Beatty McDowell, of Franklin county.

If a man marries his first wife's sister's aunt, what relation is he her? Her husband, of course.

Instead of grumbling because

World doesn't understand us, we ought to be thankful that it does not.